Course content

In this course, based on a discussion of customer buying behavior, several concepts of strategic marketing management and marketing communications are put forward.

a) Marketing audit as a "health check": A marketing audit is a comprehensive, systematic, independent, and periodic examination of a company’s or business unit’s marketing environment, objectives, strategies, and activities with a view to determining problem areas and opportunities and recommending a plan of action to improve the company’s marketing performance. 2 different approaches will be discussed: Kotler’s checklist and the McKinsey Brand Funnel.

b) The four core tasks in marketing (customer acquisition, customer retention, product innovation, and product maintenance) are the basis for the creation and implementation of business models that allow a company to achieve competitive advantages:

c) Branding and (digital) communication (keywords: 7 deadly sins of branding; viral communication)

d) Price management

e) Marketing management control & marketing metrics (keywords: return on marketing, marketing metrics, marketing budgeting, balanced marketing scorecard).
