Course information

Course prerequisites
This course is part of the SIM Master.

Course content
The course "Digitalization and Customer Centricity" addresses two recent and important strategic imperatives in an integrative way: Customer Centricity and Digital Transformation. Indeed, all companies agree they have to become more customer-centric and more digital. Therefore, this course focuses on top management’s increasingly important task of bringing customer centricity to life in a digital world. The goal of the course is to discuss the key elements, issues, and challenges of digitalization and customer centricity, incorporating a real life case. This should enable students:

- To understand the nature and components of a customer centric digital transformation - strategy, resources & capabilities, and organizational structure.
- To understand the psychological and behavioral foundations that form the basis for a successful digitalization and customer centricity strategy.
- To study the major tasks and challenges of managing digital customer interactions.
- To analyze current challenges of customer centricity and digitalization for the collaborating company.

Term papers

- Term papers must be written without anyone else's help and in accordance with the known quotation standards, and they must contain a declaration of authorship.
- The documentation of sources (quotations, bibliography) has to be done throughout and consistently in accordance with the APA or MLA standards. The indications of the sources of information taken over verbatim or in paraphrase (quotations) must be integrated into the text in accordance with the precepts of the applicable quotation standard, while informative and bibliographical notes must be added as footnotes (recommendations and standards can be found, for example, in METZGER, C. (2017), Lern- und Arbeitsstrategien (12th ed., Cornelsen Schweiz).
- For any work written at the HSG, the indication of the page numbers both according to the MLA and the APA standard is never optional.
- Where there are no page numbers in sources, precise references must be provided in a different way: titles of chapters or sections, section numbers, acts, scenes, verses, etc.
- For papers in law, the legal standard is recommended (by way of example, cf. FORSTMOser, P., ogorek R. et Schindler B. (2018, Juristisches Arbeiten: Eine Anleitung für Studierende (6. Auflage), Zürich: Schulthess, or the recommendations of

Examination content

Group examination paper with presentation
At the end of the course the students will have to present their results to company representatives and the lecturer. Additionally, the groups will have to write a paper in which they summarize their results (together 70% of the final grade). The length of the paper should not exceed 20 pages and shall correspond to general scientific requirements.

Written examination
Covering all topics of the course (30% of the final grade) It is taken for granted that students prepare for the lectures and play an active role within the course. The attestation will only be certificated if the overall score is at least 4.0. If the student does not achieve the claimed score, s/he can repeat the exam once.

Examination relevant literature
All content of the lectures are relevant for the exam.
