Course information

Course prerequisites

Good knowledge in mathematics and statistics.

Course content

The objective of the class is to provide an introduction into the theory and empirical aspects of asset pricing.

The course is relevant for students with interest in the economics of asset pricing. The class covers choices under uncertainty, discrete-time asset valuation, contingent claim valuation, mean variance analysis, capital asset pricing model, arbitrage pricing theory. Students learn how the various financial theories can be phrased using the notion of the stochastic discount factor and how they are empirically validated.

Course structure

1. Stochastic discount factor (SDF)
2. Some basics of utility theory
3. SDF and arbitrage free markets
4. Mean variance analysis
5. Discount factors, betas, and mv frontiers
6. The multiple time period SDF
7. Conditioning information
8. Factor pricing
9. Estimating and evaluating asset pricing models

Examination-aid rule

Term papers

- Term papers must be written without anyone else's help and in accordance with the known quotation standards, and they must contain a declaration of authorship.

- The documentation of sources (quotations, bibliography) has to be done throughout and consistently in accordance with the APA or MLA standards. The indications of the sources of information taken over verbatim or in paraphrase (quotations) must be integrated into the text in accordance with the precepts of the applicable quotation standard, while informative and bibliographical notes must be added as footnotes (recommendations and standards can be found, for example, in METZGER, C. (2017), Lern- und Arbeitsstrategien (12th ed., Cornelsen Schweiz).
- For any work written at the HSG, the indication of the page numbers both according to the MLA and the APA standard is never optional.
- Where there are no page numbers in sources, precise references must be provided in a different way: titles of chapters or sections, section numbers, acts, scenes, verses, etc.
- For papers in law, the legal standard is recommended (by way of example, cf. FORSTMOSER, P., OGORÉK R. et SCHINDLER B. (2018, Juristisches Arbeiten: Eine Anleitung für Studierende (6. Auflage), Zürich: Schulthess, or the recommendations of the Law School).
