Course information

Course prerequisites

Intermediate knowledge of public economics.

Learning objectives

Students will learn to understand key topics in public economics and how they are linked to economic policy issues. In addition, the course intends to advance students' development as applied economists by providing training in the knowledge transfer from scientific debate to policy solutions. While methodological concepts are important to understand the evidence on policy evaluation, they are not introduced for the sake of discussions on inference or modelling.

Course content

This is an advanced course in public sector economics whose purpose is to study the role of government in the economy. It covers basic issues in the treatment of externalities, optimal tax design, social insurance, fiscal sustainability and fiscal federalism with an emphasis on practical relevance and empirical evidence. Topics include public goods and externalities, efficiency costs and incidence of taxation, income taxation, labor supply responses to taxation, retirement policies, (re-)distribution of income, social mobility, fiscal and debt policy, budget rules and tax competition. The course specifically highlights and discusses Swiss evidence and experiences on these topics

Course structure and indications of the learning and teaching design

The course will be taking place in weekly sessions in form of a lecture.

Course literature

The bibliography is available in the lecture notes provided at the beginning of the course.

Examination-aid rule

Closed Book

The use of aids is prohibited as a matter of principle, with the exception of pocket calculator models of the Texas Instruments TI-30 series and, in case of non-language exams, bilingual dictionaries without any handwritten notes. Any other aids that are admissible must be explicitly listed by faculty members in the paragraph entitled "Supplementary aids" of the course and examination fact sheet; this list is exhaustive.

Procuring any aids, as well as ensuring their working order, is the exclusive responsibility of students.

Supplementary aids

none

Examination content

The examination will take place as a decentral written examination (with defined exam duration) and accounts for 100 % of the grade. Topics include public goods and externalities, efficiency costs and incidence of taxation, income taxation, labor supply responses to taxation, retirement policies, (re-)distribution of income, social mobility, fiscal and debt policy, budget rules, and tax competition.

Examination relevant literature

Lecture notes and mandatory readings as indicated in the provided bibliography (available at the beginning of the course).

Please note

Please note that only this fact sheet and the examination schedule published at the time of bidding are binding and takes precedence over other information, such as information on StudyNet (Canvas), on lecturers' websites and information in lectures etc.

Any references and links to third-party content within the fact sheet are only of a supplementary, informative nature and lie outside the area of responsibility of the University of St.Gallen.
