

BASEL
IN THE AGE OF BURCKHARDT

A Study in Unseasonable Ideas

Lionel Gossman

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS
CHICAGO AND LONDON

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	be
Map	xiv
Introduction	1
Part I. Nineteenth-Century Basel	13
1. From "A Community of Citizens" to "A Conglomeration of Individuals"	IS
2. "A Kind of Family Government": The Ribbon Lords and Their World	31
3. "City of Miracles": Culture, Religion, and Money	49
4. "To Reconcile the Progressive Tendencies of the Time with Resistance to Them": Neohumanist Ideals and Modern Reality	67
5. "An Archimedean Point Outside Events": Anachronism and Modernity—Parochialism and Cosmopolitanism	91
Interlude: Portrait of a City from Romain Rolland's Jean-Christophe	105
Part II. Johann Jacob Bachofen	109
6. "An Exile in My Own Homeland": Withdrawal and Renunciation	111
7. "Far from One's Father's House": A Prepatriarchal Order	139
8. "At Its Greatest in Its Graves": The Dark Side of Antiquity	149
9. "Spinning and Weaving": The Forming of Matter	171

Part III. Jacob Burckhardt	201
10. "A Man Who Held Out amid the Collapse of Everything": Serene Resistance	203
11. "From Now On My Courses Will Emphasize Only Cultural History": The Age of Constantine the Great and The Civilization of the Renaissance in Italy	251
12. "Not Narrative but Historical": The Cultural History of Greece	297
13. "A Second Creation": The History of Art	347
Part IV. "The Sulking Corner of Europe"	411
14. Friedrich Nietzsche and Franz Overbeck	413
15. Burckhardt and Ranke: Basel and Berlin	439
Notes	455
Index	581